ORANGE CROP A FAILURE.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Feb. 6.—The orange erop is now being gathered and the outlook for most of the growers is disheartening. The season's yield was largely spoiled by the severe frost and by the electric windstorm on December 17. It is safe to say that at least the thirds of the oranges on the trois are unmarketable and many are unfit to eat. The loss is a hard one to all the interests of southern California. Many orchard owners are practically bankrupt, for many depended entirely on the unusually promising crop to make payments on their lands. Even the real estate men find that they have a hard thing to explain away in the case of prospective purchasers, and by no means the smallest trial is upon the larger bads of laborary and forth the large body of laborers and fruit handlers, who relied on work at orange picking and packing to help them through the winter, when all other kinds of fruit work are suspended. The railroads are heavy lesers also, for in-stead of 5,000 carloads of fruit that would have been sent there will probably not be more than 1,000 carloads. VICTIM OF VANITY.

During the night Borchers returned, unlocked the vault and opened the safe, taking $7,100.55, after which he put the time lock in proper condition, relocked the safe, setting it for 10 o'clock the next day, locked the vault, and took the $250 train for Council Binfix, where he was seen afterward. Borchers was raised here, but has been absent some years in the west. He is a son of the founder of the city, and was regarded as honest and trusty. A search of his residence brought to light $445 of the stolen money. A reward of $1,000 is offered for Borchers' apprehension.

PANIC AT A BALL

Little May Knapp Seriously Surned at a Chicago Dance-Her Dress on Fire. CHICAGO, Feb. 6 .- A panic occurred CHICAGO. Feb. 6.—A panic occurred in Battery D early this morning among the dancers attending the west side street railway employes' masquerade ball. The fright was occasioned by the blaze in little May Knapp's dress, at ted by a lighted match or cigar stub which had been thrown from the gallery. The girl was severely burned about the face and hands. The dress was made of light material and the sight of the flames caused a general stampede. Mary, who is only 10 years old, was standing in the midst of a crowd of merry-makers when her costume caught on fire. Those near her attempted to extinguish the blaze, while others, supposing that the hall was afire, made a wild break for the exita. The hall was crowded and a loss of life seemed inevitable, when the managers of the ball, realizing the danger, ordered the orchestra to play a waits. ordered the orchestra to play a waltz. frightened ones

Failure of a Western Farm Moregag

DENVER, Col., Feb 6.—Attachments have been filed against the Western Farm Mortgage Trust Company and an application for a receiver will be made to day. The attachments were for small amcunts, the largest being for $1,000, yet the company could not pay. It is said that arrests of directors and officers are not improbable.

Ower Rearly $1,000,000.

Owes Nearly $1,000,000.

The company was organized in Lawrence, Kan., and afterward reincorporated in Denver. New York creditors are represented here and will file attachments against securities representing $900,000 to-day. The company is capitalized ostensibly at $5,000,000, and, it is said, has been doing a business of $10,000,000 a year, principally with other people's money.

How it Did Business.

The company's methods was to lend money at a high rate and take a mortgage to secure payment. This mortgage was sold at a premium to eastern investors, the company collecting the interests. The money paid by purchasers was reinvested until the business reached an enormous aggregate. The farmers were unable to pay the high interest, and the company, to maintain its standing, advanced the interest to the purchasers. It drew on the Third national bank of New York city until at its funds were exhausted.

Creditors F: ed Toe Harde

Then the press of creditors became too great to be withstood. When the directors saw that the crash was coming they formed the American Real Estate Investment Company, to which, it is alleged, the stock of the trust company has been turned over.

The losses of castern purchasers it is believed will aggregate hundreds of thousands, as the securities they can attach are considered very poor.
